

Supporting innovative educators across Queensland.

The brief.

Education Changemakers partnered with the Bryan Foundation to run a professional development program across Queensland that would support innovative new practices.

322

educators took part in the program.

58%

new school of participants were promoted into leadership within three years of the program.

What we did.

We tailored our established Changemaker Program, and identified a number of regions to engage with across Queensland over several intakes (including Ipswich, Doomadgee and Caboolture). Through the program educators built out their own change initiatives across a year of workshops and ongoing coaching and support. Several programs led to major education awards for participating educators with documentaries shot of stand-out initiatives.
