

A program in partnership the South Australian department of education to train and support change agents across schools in the state.

The brief.

Education Changemakers was approached by the South Australian Department of Education to provide ongoing programs across several years to support innovative education leaders across the state.

What we did.

Across five years we provided a range of professional development programs for the department. Several of these were focused on the Anangu Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara lands, and the Riverlands region, both rural and remote jurisdictions. Programs focused on emerging and middle leaders (Changemaker Program), as well as a senior program for school leaders (Change Leader Program). This work was externally reviewed with strong impacts documented.

students impacted by teacher led innovations launched through the programs.

98%

of participants reported that their initiatives had positively influenced student learning at their school.
